

RUSTIC ROMANCE

Panoramic views over palm trees and plains, private gardens and charming courtyards make the Hacienda de San Rafael a retreat to beat

The Hacienda de San Rafael, once a thriving olive estate, has been restored to its former glory, and more. Striking the perfect balance between rustic charm and modern sophistication, this privately-owned eighteenth-century hideaway is perfectly positioned half-way between the historic cities of Seville and Jerez de la Frontera. To the east lie the white villages alongside the Sierra de Grazalema, and to the west, Coto Doñana National Park. So, as well as providing the perfect setting for an intimate getaway, it is ideally located for discovering the charms of Andalucía.

The 11 duplex rooms are situated around a bougainvillea-filled courtyard, each with its own veranda, perfect for enjoying breakfast in the morning. The interior décor bears the signature of their designer Kuky Mora-Figueroa, who has used fabrics, antiques and artefacts sourced on her extensive travels to Asia & India.

For something extra special, the Hacienda has three casitas offering the ultimate in rustic chic. They lie in a private garden with a shared infinity pool, and each has a large bedroom, separate living room and an upstairs siesta zone. An outside 'chozita' offers guests a comfortable day bed for relaxing or individual dining.

The Hacienda provides a unique venue for private celebrations, including birthdays, anniversaries and weddings, and is frequently used for corporate functions and fashion shoots.

A special Honeymoon Package offers the opportunity for couples to experience hot air ballooning in the Sierras, with a champagne breakfast, as well as private massages, a horse safari along the Costa de la Luz with a picnic, and a bottle of house champagne in the room on arrival.
